

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

I don't understand how a body developed to ensure regulation and monitoring of media can be willing to allow deregulation such that the information the public receives will become more and more narrow and incomplete. I am frightened by the lack of principles displayed in supporting more consolidation within the media industry. When will money stop controlling decision making.